

American Indians into Health Professions Summer 2027 Save the Date

Join us for a culturally grounded summer learning experience that empowers American Indian/Alaska Native students and adults to explore higher education and careers in the health professions.

Guided by the principle of " Growing Our Own," AIHP honors traditional medicine, Indigenous knowledge, and community values while bridging Indigenous approaches to wellness with Western health practices.

- Opportunities to learn about health professions and professional development.
- Native American individuals interested in pursuing higher education and exploring careers in the health professions.

Summer 2027 Sessions

- Session 1 Youth: High school juniors, seniors, and recent high school graduates, June 13th through June 18th
- Session 2 Adults: Ages 18+, June 27th through July 2nd
